Senior Thesis Camp

Fall Break 2010—Hesburgh Library, Lower Level

The program is designed to assist seniors who are writing theses in Arts & Letters. Students will have the opportunity to jumpstart the research and writing process by working in dedicated spaces in the library and by consulting with librarians and writing tutors about their work. The program will help students establish a framework for writing and research that will enable them to work effectively. Through informal conversations and short presentations of their research, they will also develop a sense of community with other students. Members of the Center for Undergraduate Scholarly Engagement will talk about the annual research fair and opportunities for graduate study. Each day the library will provide breakfast and refreshments and there will be a lunch on the final day to celebrate the completion of the program.

Students

- Provide the name of their advisor
- Provide a brief description of their research interests
- Provide some basic information on their familiarity with library research

Librarians

- Conduct a workshop on research essentials
- Conduct a workshop on literature reviews
- Conduct a workshop on formatting citations with RefWorks
- Provide research consultations for individual students
- Provide subject specific workshops (depending on participants)
- Provide a brief presentation on the Library Research Award

Writing Center

- Conduct a workshop on writing essentials
- Provide individual consultations for students

CUSE

- Conduct a presentation on research opportunities, graduate fellowships and funding
- Conduct a presentation on preparing for the Undergraduate Scholars Conference

Arts & Letters Advisors

- Encourage students to enroll
- Meet with students before and after to check progress

The User Experience

UX examines the ways that our users experience libraries and how users interact with library staff and other departments across the organization.

Usability answers the question "Can the user accomplish their goal?"
User experience answers the question, "Did the user have as delightful an experience as possible?"

Renovation 2010

Board of Trust Approves Library Renovation

Vanderbilt University's General Library Building is undergoing a $6 million renovation that addresses 21st century teaching and research needs for students and faculty while enhancing the experiences of community visitors. This is the first major change to Vanderbilt's largest library building since the addition of the H. Fort Flowers Wing in 1969.

The renovation will upgrade almost 19,000 square feet of existing space. The number of large, attractive study areas will be increased, including two multi-purpose group study areas that can be used for library instruction classes, study sessions and special events. The number of public workstations will be increased, and the lobby's four help desks will be consolidated to provide a single service point for library users. A café will be added on the fourth floor, directly accessible from campus as well as through the library.

Construction on the lobby, reference room, computer commons and second floor breezeway will be completed in time for the fall semester. By the end of the calendar year, work on the café and community room will be done.

Provost McCarty

"Scholarship has changed dramatically in the 70 years since construction of the Central Library. The information revolution completely transformed the way faculty members teach, the way students learn and the way faculty and students conduct research."
