Forming your Summer Reading List
 As spring turns into summer, the thought of lounging on the beach with a great read enters my mind. In fact, I hope to read several novels over the course of the summer. This is all well and good, but how exactly does one decide what to read?

Morris Library's Blurbs
About me:
 Morris Library is the main library for Southern Illinois University Carbondale. We also serve the students and staff at John A. Logan College and Carbondale Community High School, as well as the greater Carbondale area. We have millions of pieces of stuff for you to use, including books, audio and video recordings, journals, magazines, newspapers, maps, government documents, items of historical significance, posters, the odd stuffed animal or hand puppet, a statue of Abraham Lincoln that improves your luck when you rub its nose, and a staff dedicated to helping you find what you want or need.
 We are open 7:30am to midnight, Monday through Thursday, 7:30am to 9:00pm on Friday, 10:00am to 9:00pm on Saturday, and 1:00pm to midnight on Sunday. Check for special hours here.
 You can learn more about us at our main website, www.lib.siu.edu.
Who I'd like to meet:
 Everyone! Especially SIUC students, faculty, and staff.
 If the librarian is "offline", please leave your email address so that we can respond. Thanks.

Google Book Search Bibliography
his bibliography presents selected English-language articles and other works that are useful in understanding Google Book Search. It primarily focuses on the evolution of Google Book Search and the legal, library, and social issues associated with it. Where possible, links are provided to works that are freely available on the Internet, including e-prints in disciplinary archives and institutional repositories. Note that e-prints and published articles may not be identical.

Who's Out Front with Technology Innovation on Campus?
At this time in higher education, we need a technology innovation unit. If academic computing on your campus has become locked into production, it may be time to create a new breed of systematic technology innovation unit that consults, selects, pilots, assesses, and hands off to technical operations. This must be a unit that can manage the innovation cycle so that adoption of Web 2.0 technologies on the campus is not willy-nilly. But, the innovation unit can't continue to support the new technologies once they've been vetted and implemented. That last part of the innovation cycle, the "hand off," allows the unit to continue to innovate. No innovation unit can survive without always "going out of business."

The University of Connecticut Libraries' Staff Wiki is a project to create a complete, up-to-date and reliable source for various ITS Documents. Check out the links below to see how you can edit any page right now. There are currently 1,153 documents in the database.

Welcome to the University of Connecticut Libraries' Staff Wiki

What is a Wiki?

A Wiki enables documents to be authored collectively using a web browser.

This Wiki was created to help maintain the ITS area's large amount of documentation. The Wiki makes all of our documentation searchable, and allows easy access for anyone in the library to edit the information when necessary.

A few tips to get you started:

- » Please register first if you haven't already. It's quick and easy.
- » Most information in a Wiki is found via the search. For example, try to search for the word, 'password' (without quotes).
- » Once you've found a document, if you see that it is missing information or has an error, you can edit it (as long as your logged in). Keep in mind that the Wiki doesn't have to use HTML. You can type things free form, or use the Guide to Markup Text to format.

Creating a new document is easy. Just type this address in your browser:

<http://wiki.lib.uconn.edu/wiki/> and then add the title of your document at the end of the link. Please consult Page Naming Conventions before choosing a name for your article. So if I wanted to create a new document that contained ITS Staff Phone Numbers, I might type in this URL:

http://wiki.lib.uconn.edu/wiki/ITSKB:_Staff_Phone_Numbers

When you visit the new page you created, you'll need to login and edit it, and then save it for the URL to be created.

You'll find that ITS's documents all start with ITSKB. This allows anyone to view an index of all ITS documents by searching for 'ITSKB' (without the quotes).

A good way to experiment with editing is to visit the Official Sandbox.

The McGill Library Global Health Resource Guide [edit]

The McGill Global Health Resource Guide was created as a wiki to promote collaboration between all McGill people working in the field of global health. All McGill faculty, clinicians, researchers and students are encouraged to use and add to these resources.

We hope this resource guide will attract a global audience, and promote collaboration between professionals within, and beyond, the McGill Community.

If you would like to contribute to this resource, but are not a member of the McGill community, we would like to hear from you.

For more information, comments, or suggestions for content, please contact Deborah Meert at the McGill Macdonald Campus Library (deborah.meert@mcgill.ca)

Sign up for the McGill Library Global Health Workshop [edit]

Where in the world...? Online Sources for Global Health Information: A Hands-On Workshop

Date for next session is June 17, 2008. It will be from 1-5pm in the Macdonald Campus Library eZone

UMass Amherst Libraries

Focusing on Undergraduates: Library Collections, Services and Facilities

PDF of report incorporating staff feedback \(May 23, 2007\)
PDF of initial report \(February 22, 2007\)

Executive summary of report

Undergraduate students represent the largest user population for the UMass Amherst Libraries. Over 19,000 in number, undergraduate students are diverse in their discipline of study, their ethnic and social background, their understanding and use of information technologies, and their familiarity with the collections and services offered by a large research library. A dynamic relationship between the library, these students, and the faculty that teach them is essential for a successful undergraduate educational and social experience.

The library's Focusing on Undergraduates Self-Study Team was asked to consider the following questions:

Where are we today?

- Document accomplishments, especially in the context of the Libraries' Three Year Plan and Self-Study/External Review Process
- Analyze relevant statistics and assessment data
- Examine our impact on campus, faculty, and undergraduate students

What are other libraries doing now?

- Initiate an environmental scan of library activities at comparable institutions including benchmarks and best practices for undergraduate student services
- Investigate how other university libraries are evolving services to undergraduate students

How do we envision the future?

Undergraduate services and undergraduate education

Staffing
Budget
Assessment
Outreach

- Define a realistic vision of collections, services, and facilities required to meet the demands of undergraduate education in the next five to seven years
- Suggest innovations in terms of staffing (organization, training, workflow), collections, facilities and technology
- Recommend areas where current efforts can be curtailed or eliminated
- Provide broad-based expectations regarding the cost of this vision in terms of staffing, collections, facilities and technology

Process

The Focusing on Undergraduates Self-Study Team:

- Discussed and organized a work plan addressing the questions asked above
- Solicited input from staff, faculty, students, and appropriate community members regarding these questions
- Drafted an initial five/seven page report addressing these questions
- Will provide a variety of opportunities for comment, discussion and input from staff, faculty, and students regarding initial draft
- Will draft an interim five/seven page report to include comments made on the initial report.
- Will provide a variety of opportunities for comment, discussion and input from staff, faculty, and students regarding interim draft
- Will draft a final report

Timeline

The Initial draft report is due to be circulated for comment beginning February 16, 2007.

Welcome to the University of Minnesota Libraries Staff Website

Vision

The University Libraries are a strategic asset of the University, providing intellectual leadership and extraordinary information experiences toward the advancement of knowledge.

Mission

The University Libraries inspire learning and discovery through information resources, collaboration, and expertise.

Vision and Mission as stated in the Libraries' Planning Framework document prepared as part of the University's strategic planning process and submitted to the Provost on December 1, 2004.

Reviewed and affirmed by Libraries Leadership Council September 14, 2006.

Our Planning & Budget page has more details about our annual planning.

How we operate

The University Librarian's Cabinet (Cabinet) and Libraries Leadership Council (LLC) work with the University Librarian to set priorities, analyze systems-wide issues, and review policies. Other important committees exist around the Libraries, including those related to our governance and oversight.

Our Councils include those for divisions and program areas of the Libraries:

- Access Services Council
- Information Technology Council
- Collections Council
- Undergraduate Initiatives Council

Staff input is crucial to this site's evolution. Send comments to Erin at georg038@umn.edu or leave them on our Comments page.

Welcome to RefWorks - Syracuse University

This wiki is a training and knowledge management tool created by Science and Technology Librarians at Syracuse University Library to promote the use of RefWorks among the Syracuse University (SU) community.

Why should I be interested in RefWorks?

RefWorks is a service that allows you to save and store citations, and generate bibliographies in different styles (e.g., APA, MLA, Chicago). Also when using Write-N-Cite utility program you may add references to a paper and format the reference list. References may be easily imported from many online databases, the SUMMIT catalog, the Internet and other bibliographic management tools, or you can manually enter the information into RefWorks.

Can I use RefWorks at home?

RefWorks is accessible from off-campus to members of the SU community. More information involving off-campus access and SU's policy on access to licensed web resources is available.

Do you offer training on using RefWorks?

Instructional Training sessions will be available during the Fall and Spring semesters. They will be located at Bird Library in the lower level, room 046. Registration is not required and all SU and SUNY ESF students, faculty and staff are welcome to take part. You may also request a training session for a group of students or class through the Instructional Services page. During the summer, take advantage of the free webinars.

Want to join our wiki?

You are invited to join this site and be part of the growing community of RefWorks users who share ideas as well as problems or solutions that they have encountered while navigating or using the software.

For optimal viewing, we recommend using the Mozilla Firefox browser.

What are some of the services the library provides to faculty?

Here are just a few of the services the library provides to faculty:

- Angel Help: We'll help you troubleshoot, add content, create stable links, and more.
- Library Instruction: Have an assignment where students need to use the library. Work with a library subject specialist to do a session to help your students learn how to best use library resources.
- Copyright Advice
- EndNote Instruction
- Keeping up with the literature: A guide to help you search, set up alert searches, and more.

For more information on other services see the faculty services page or contact your subject specialist!

Proxy Server Changes Coming!

The end of the Spring semester will bring about changes when accessing libraries' electronic resources from off campus locations. As of May 29, 2008 the old proxy server will no longer be available. Off campus access to library electronic resources is now made easier through the EZ Proxy which has been in place and working well for the last two years. For more information on using this service see the EZ proxy website available from Distance Learning Services through the MSU Libraries - Off Campus Access.

Poet Laureates

When questioned by a reporter, John McCain recently had to admit he didn't know who the poet laureate of the United States or of Arizona is. It would be interesting to see how many members of the general public know that Charles Simic, an immigrant from Yugoslavia who didn't speak English until he was 15, is the current U.S. Poet Laureate. While Arizona does not have a poet laureate, Larry D. Thomas of Houston is the 2008 Texas Poet Laureate. A list of Texas Poet Laureates from 1932 onward is available from The Handbook of Texas Online. Information about U.S. Poet Laureates from 1937 onward is available from the Library of Congress.

2008 Education Statistics

According to "The Condition of Education 2008," an annual report published by the National Center for Education Statistics, the nation's student body is becoming more diverse while school enrollment is at an all-time high. At the college level, the largest growth area for enrollment was from women and minority students. However, Hispanic students were underrepresented among the minorities. The report indicates that only 34 percent of Hispanics aged 25 to 29 completed some college as of 2007 compared to 50 percent of black and 66 percent of white U.S. residents. Hispanics born outside the United States are three times more likely to lack a high-school diploma than those from families who have lived in the United States a generation or more.

More college and advanced degrees are being awarded as of 2005-2006 compared with ten years earlier including 28 percent more bachelor's and associate degrees, 46 percent more master's degrees, and 26 percent more doctorates. The most popular undergraduate majors included business, social sciences and history, and education. At the master's level the greatest number of degrees were conferred for the fields of education and business while at the doctoral level education, engineering, health professions and related clinical sciences, biological and biomedical sciences, and psychology were the most popular.

Earnings of young adults with degrees are still greater than their peers

General and Stamp Design Files of the 3rd. Assist. Postmaster General

The National Postal Museum Library is one of the largest and most important research facilities for the study of philately and the history of postal services in the world. Supplementing the collection of publications on philately and postal history are major document collections including:

- General files of the Third Assistant Postmaster General - contain documentation on the stamp design and production process, covering issues such as paper, inks, engraving and printing methods, production numbers, and public reaction to the stamp designs.
- Stamp design files of the Third Assistant Postmaster General - especially strong from 1920 to 1970, the files are arranged by Scott number and type, including regular issue, commemorative, and airmail stamps.

Please take a look at the finding aids - <http://www.sil.si.edu/digitalcollections/NPM/> and let us know your reaction in the comment box below.

Hard Hat Tour of Pennsy Drive facility

Smithsonian Libraries' staff visited the new Pennsy Drive facility near Landover, Maryland on May 29.

The Pennsy Drive facility will house the Book Conservation Lab, the SIL Imaging Center, binding operations and also provide a reading room and shelf space for over 500,000 volumes.

The Libraries will begin moving into the new space sometime in the fall.

Botanica Magnifica images at Smithsonian Libraries

In his large-format images, photographer Jonathan Singer captures the essence of plant form, color, and texture, thereby enhancing the viewer's appreciation of the complexity of the botanical world. Collaborating with scientists in the Smithsonian's Department of Botany, the large-format photographs focus on the Smithsonian's living plant collections. Each photo was taken with a high-resolution digital camera and printed on hand-made paper with special inks. Jonathan Singer donated the first set of this monumental five-volume work to the Smithsonian Institution's Department of Botany and the Smithsonian Institution Libraries.

Images from Botanica Magnifica will be on display in the Smithsonian Libraries exhibition case located in the National Museum of Natural History (10th St. and Constitution Ave., NW, Washington, DC), ground floor lobby, thru October 2008.

Jakobsen Lecture Available on iTunes U

By Nicole Restaino on June 4, 2008 9:19 AM | Permalink | Comments \(0\)

Distinguished professor of women's studies, Janet Jakobsen of Barnard College, lectured at Paley on April 7.

Dr. Jakobsen is the Director of the Center for Research on Women at Barnard. Her research interests include: feminist and queer ethics; religion, gender, and sexuality in American public life; social movements and feminist alliance politics; and global issues of economics.

Jakobsen's research truly crosses disciplinary boundaries, and her engagement with a number of issues crosses the traditional lines established between the academy and activism.

This lecture was part of a series presented by the Libraries and the General Education Program, which aims to bring interdisciplinary scholars in a variety of fields to Temple. The departments of Religion and Jewish Studies also played a significant role in sponsoring Dr. Jakobsen's visit.

Dr. Jakobsen's lecture at Paley Library can be downloaded from iTunes U. When you see the Temple University page, click Paley Library at the bottom, then Janet Jakobsen, then click "Get" and wait for the download to complete.

After the lecture, Dr. Jakobsen was interviewed by Professor of History, David Watt, and Professor of Religion, Women's Studies, and Jewish Studies, Laura Levitt.

See the News with PressDisplay

By Derek Badman on June 3, 2008 12:01 PM | Permalink | Comments \(0\)

TU Libraries is pleased to announce the addition of Library PressDisplay to its suite of online resources!

Visually stunning, PressDisplay provides online access to today's leading newspapers and magazines from around the world, presented in their traditional format and layout. With more than 650 print publications from 76 countries and in 38 languages, PressDisplay is an indispensable news source for anyone who wants not only multiple perspectives on the news, but also to see the original print layout/format, including color images, editorial content, classifieds, and advertisements.

Readers can browse or search for the last 60 days worth of newspapers by country, language, or title and also perform keyword searches for individual articles. Once inside a newspaper, readers can turn the pages as if holding the actual paper, zooming into individual images and articles.

Articles may be printed, saved, or emailed for later use. Some articles also have accompanying audio files which can be played in Windows Media Player. And, articles from many foreign language publications can be instantly translated into one of several major languages.

While ideal for scholars associated with international studies, media studies, and foreign language studies, PressDisplay promises to hold appeal for all interested in current events.

Please feel free to contact me directly for further information about the resource.

New History Databases

The Libraries has acquired two new history-related fulltext databases of primary sources:

- Burney Collection of Newspapers
17th and 18th century English newspapers including colonial papers
- House of Commons Parliamentary Papers
Now includes the fulltext of 19th and 20th century British Parliamentary Papers.

Links to these databases can be found on the History Subject Page under the Newspapers and Government Documents sections.

What is RSS?
RSS (Really Simple Syndication) is an XML based format for sharing and distributing Web content, such as news headlines. Using an RSS reader, you can view data feeds from various news sources, such as CNN.com, including headlines, summaries, links to full stories.

How do I access RSS?
RSS/News Aggregators (also called Readers) will download and display RSS feeds for you. A number of free and commercial News Aggregators are available for download. In fact, you may have one now and not even know it! Some email clients and internet news readers support RSS directly and there are add-ons or extensions for many internet browsers.

How To View KSL RSS Feeds
RSS feeds are viewed using an RSS aggregator. See notes below the list of feeds for more information about what an RSS aggregator is, and where you can get one.

Many aggregators are separate, "stand-alone" programs; other services will let you add RSS feeds to a Web page.

RSS/News Aggregators:
An impressive description and listing of news aggregators is available from Wikipedia. The Wikipedia news aggregator list includes both free and commercial programs and online services for all computing platforms.

Subscribe to KSL RSS Feeds
KSL offers an extensive list of information feeds. These feeds are categorized and listed here along with these general instructions. Both the Title and the XML icon for each feed listed below are linked to the feed source.

Ask a Librarian

Chat & Browse

AskRef Live! is a reference service that allows University of Delaware faculty, staff, and students to chat and search web pages with librarians.

The chat service is provided through your web browser and no account or special software is required. Following a session, you will receive a transcript of the online discussion via email.

Email

Please choose one of the following links, based on the content of your question:

AskRef, get answers to brief, factual questions

AskCirc, get information on the status of a library account, information on obtaining a library card, or the Library's lost and found

AskSMDC, get answers to your questions about the Student Multimedia Design Center

AskSpec, get answers to brief factual questions concerning holdings in the Special Collections Department

Hours

Reference librarians are available in person, by phone, and online during the following hours:

Monday – Thursday:	8:00 a.m. – 9:00 p.m.
Friday:	8:00 a.m. – 8:00 p.m.
Saturday:	1:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Sunday:	1:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

This page is maintained by Erin Daix, Reference Department.

Instant Messaging

IM or Instant Messaging is a means of using either software or a web page to type conversations in real time with another person. To contact the University of Oregon Libraries via instant messaging, send a message from your IM account to one of our screen names. We have screen names on AOL, Yahoo Messenger, and MSN Messenger.

For information and research assistance from the Knight Reference Desk, use the following screen names:

uoreference (AOL)

uoreference (Yahoo Messenger)

uoreference@hotmail.com (MSN Messenger)

For information and research assistance from the Science Library, use the following screen names:

uoscience (AOL)

uoscience (Yahoo Messenger)

uoscience@hotmail.com (MSN Messenger)

For information and research assistance from the Law Library, use the following screen names:

uolawref (AIM)

uolawref (Yahoo Messenger)

uolawref@hotmail.com (MSN Messenger)

For hours of availability, see the Law Library's Reference page.

The IM service of the UO Libraries is intended primarily for UO students, faculty, and staff.

Non-UO patrons are encouraged to use L-net, an online reference service provided by Oregon's libraries.

Hours of service: the IM service is typically offered at the Knight Reference Desk whenever a staff member is present at the desk. During the regular term, those hours are: Monday-Thursday 9 am-midnight; Friday 9am - 7 pm; Saturday 11 am - 7 pm; and Sunday 11 am - midnight. For service outside of these hours, try the L-net virtual reference service.

If you are using a shared computer in a library or lab, or do not wish to download and install Instant Messenger software on your computer, you may use web-based chat services at AIM Express or MSN Web Messenger. These allow you to create a screen name and to chat, without downloading any software.

About Ask-a-Librarian via IM

iMaPITTLibrarian is our IM version of Ask-a-Librarian of the reference service offered by the University Library System at the University of Pittsburgh. This service is open to Pitt affiliates and to others with questions regarding services and resources unique to the University of Pittsburgh.

Ask iMaPITTLibrarian

You can send an instant message (IM) to one of our reference librarians by adding one of the IM addresses listed below to your buddy (or friends) list. We are still testing this service and cannot guarantee help at any specific hours, but please send a question if you see us online. Questions are taken on a first come first serve basis. If we are not available, try our other Ask-a-Librarian services listed here.

IM Client	IM Address	Web Version
 AOL Messenger	iMaPITTLibrarian@aol.com	AIM Express
1. Open the AIM Express link and click the start button. 2. Enter your AOL screen name and password and click sign on. 3. Use "send an Instant Message" option write "PITT Ask-A-Librarian"
 MSN Messenger	iMaPITTLibrarian@hotmail.com	MSN Web Messenger
1. Open the MSN link and click on "Start MSN Web Messenger". 2. Enter your MSN email address and password to sign on. 3. Once connected, add "PITT Ask-A-Librarian" to your contact list. 4. You can send a message after the librarian accepts you as a contact.
 Yahoo! Messenger	iMaPITTLibrarian@yahoo.com	Yahoo! Web Messenger
1. Open the Yahoo!Messenger link 2. Enter your Yahoo! ID and password and sign on

Privacy policy

Use of this service is your agreement to our Privacy Policy Statement. The Library respects the privacy of our users. This policy is intended to let users know how information collected by the Ask-a-Librarian service is used. At the completion of an IM all identifying information is saved to a folder on the reference librarian's desktop, but it is removed on a periodic basis. Transcripts, questions, or information gathered during reference sessions, may be used by authorized library staff for training and research purposes. If used for research purposes, all identifying information will be removed.

Now you can send Instant Messages to Peabody Library's librarians and staff!

Look for the Ask George boxes on our Web site pages. If a librarian or staff member is available, the chat window will indicate that she is online. Simply type your question in the "Type here..." section and hit Enter to chat. If the librarian or staff member is not available, you can send an offline message, but messages sent this way are only stored for 12 hours. It would be better to send an e-mail during weekend and evening hours.

Availability

Our staff are generally in their offices between 8:00 am and 5:00 pm Monday through Friday. When they are available between these hours, they will be logged in. Please be aware that if a librarian or staff member is assisting a student in her office, or on the phone, she may not be able to respond to your IM immediately. Feel free to send an e-mail if the person you are trying to reach is offline, or unable to respond immediately.

Where do I find the Ask George boxes? And who can I chat with?

The Ask George boxes are located on Web pages where questions might come up.

Leslie Foutch is available at:

- the Human & Organizational Development resources page
- the Psychology and Human Development resources page

Lee Ann Lannom is available at:

Ask George FAQ

- Who can use the Ask George service?

Ask George is intended for Peabody College students, faculty, and staff. Questions from other users will be responded to if resources permit.
- What type of questions can I submit using Ask George?

IM chat is best for quick reference questions. We will attempt to answer any questions, but some requests might require direct email communication with a librarian or a scheduled research consultation.
- Will I need to wait to chat with the person I need?

Patrons in the librarians' or staffers' offices have priority over IM patrons. IM patrons are taken on a first-come-first-served basis. Alternatively, you may always send an e-mail or visit the reference desk for assistance.

Think of IMing as similar to phoning--when someone is available, she will respond quickly, but if she is busy or out of the office, you'll need to leave a message, and she will respond as soon as she is available.
- I'm having trouble getting through!

Here are a few things to try if the chat box doesn't seem to be working for you:

 - Disable the chat box by clicking the green button in the top right corner, then re-connect by clicking anywhere in the box.
 - Refresh the Web page.
 - Try opening the page in a different browser. The application seems to work best in Firefox.

SECOND LIFE

Second Life is a virtual environment where its over 7.5 million residents can build, shop, play, and interact with each other. UCI Libraries has purchased an island in Second Life which we named Antester Island found at the slurl <http://slurl.com/secondlife/Antester%20Island/152/188/26/>. The purposes of this investment are to foster and support creative design through course-related instruction and faculty research. In previous quarters courses such as Computer Games as Art, Culture and Technology (US 12) and Reasoning and Modeling with Graphical Models (ICS 295) made using Antester Island an integral part of the syllabus. Student teams in these classes not only used Second Life as a platform to build computer games, they also used it as a collaborative work environment. UCI Libraries wants to partner with creative faculty who are interested in this new technology. Participation could be limited to holding a single class session in Second Life to using a parcel of the island for an entire quarter.

Games & the Libraries

The University of Florida's George A. Smathers Libraries are currently investigating games for outreach, instruction, research, and professional communication. See upcoming events on the Games in the Libraries page.

This investigation includes both in person and virtual gaming:

- Games in the Library: events, including playing Guitar Hero in Library West.
- Bioactive: Bioactive is an interactive fiction game about bioterrorism. Players must use key UF library resources in order to save themselves and the school.
- Second Life: The Libraries are currently investigating and testing Second Life, internet-based virtual world for social and professional interaction, for internal use and for patron services. To visit the virtual UF Library in Second Life, go to Cybrary City, coordinates: 97,15,24, or use the Second Life URL: <http://slurl.com/secondlife/cybrary%20city/97/15/24/>. Please contact Laura Jordan with any questions or suggestions.

Lady Pipsqueak Fiddlesticks will be our guide to Tintern Abbey, one of the most carefully researched & crafted literary immersion experiences in Second Life. The Tintern Abbey build carefully researched not only the original literary work but also writings and letters from Wordsworth about the experiences which lead to the writing of the poem. The build is multimedia (make sure you have audio enabled!), with a variety of embedded student learning & enrichment activities.

Wordsworth, William. Lines Composed a Few Miles Above Tintern Abbey, On Revisiting the Banks of the Wye During a Tour, July 13, 1798:

Instant Message with GU Library Staff

When is IM available?
Monday-Thursday: 1pm-7pm
Friday: 1pm-5pm

Who can use IM?
This service is intended primarily for Georgetown University students, faculty, and staff, but questions from other users will be addressed as appropriate.

What kinds of questions can I ask?
We will attempt to answer all of your questions. In order to answer your questions fully, you may be asked to contact our Reference Staff for further assistance.

How long will I have to wait to get a response from library staff?
Staff will respond as soon as possible, but users at the Reference Desk have priority over IM users. IM users are taken in a first-come-first-served order. Remember at any time you may contact our Reference Staff or visit the Reference Desk on the third floor of Lauinger Library for assistance.

Do I need any special programs or software to use chat reference?
No special software is required. Just start typing in the "IM at GU Libraries " box on the right side of this page. If, however, you use AIM, Yahoo Instant Messenger, Google Chat, or MSN Messenger you can also IM by sending an IM to the screen name "hoyalibchat"

Please do not close this window once you have started an IM session.

MIT Libraries News

New Google and Facebook gadgets bring the MIT Libraries to you!

Posted September 7th, 2007 by Remlee Green

Two new beta gadgets make searching resources of the MIT Libraries even easier! A new Facebook application and Google gadget will allow you to search the Libraries directly from your personal pages.

Facebook Application:

The Facebook application contains search boxes for the Barton web catalog and for Vera, the collection of online journals and databases, along with links to Your Account and Ask Us for research help.

The screenshot shows a Facebook application titled "MIT Libraries". It contains two search sections. The first section is for the "MIT Barton Catalog" with a "Title Keyword" label, a search input field, and a "Search" button. The second section is for "Vera: e-journals + databases" with a label "Beginnings of words in title (wall st j)", a search input field, and a "Search" button. At the bottom, there are links for "Your Account" and "Need help? Ask Us!".

If you already have a Facebook account, you're only a few clicks away from adding the MIT Libraries application.

Google Gadget:

Did you know that you can personalize your Google homepage? Now, you can add a gadget to your Google page to search the collections of the MIT Libraries!

To add this gadget to your Google homepage, click this button:

You can also embed the gadget on any other webpage that you've created.

Thanks to Amy Stout, Nicole Hennig, Rob Wolfe, and Todd Rautenberg for developing these applications.

Tools and Widgets

The University of Minnesota Libraries offers many different tools and widgets that may be used directly or incorporated into other applications such as Google, Amazon, or your browser. We hope to develop more so stay tuned!

Direct use tools

- Refworks: Citation manager -- Manage your bibliography online
- UThink: Blogs at the University of Minnesota -- Create a University of Minnesota blog
- CitationLinker: find full text -- Find out if the libraries has the full text of a known article citation
- Assignment Calculator -- Easily map out the steps needed to complete an assignment
- RSS URL Converter -- Have licensed RSS content that you can't get to from off campus? Convert the RSS URL to a U of M recognized RSS feed and get access from both on campus and off!

Incorporate these widgets and feeds into existing applications

- Libraries News Feeds \(RSS, XML, Atom\) -- The library offers many different feeds to add to an aggregator or another web site
- Install the U of M Libraries browser toolbar -- Search library resources from this handy browser toolbar
- Install MNCAT search in Firefox and Internet Explorer 7 -- Search MNCAT from your browsers built in search box
- Add MNCAT Lookup to Amazon Searches -- Determine if a book found in Amazon is at the U of M Libraries
- Add the Libraries Search tool to MyU and Google -- The search box on the home page can be added to MyU and Google
- Add MNCAT \(Catalog only\) to Google -- Add a MNCAT search box to Google that stays within the Google interface

MIT LIBRARIES

User Interface Group

Charge

The User Interface Group serves as the decision-making team for design of the Libraries' public user interfaces. This includes the following:

- libraries public web site
- libraries staff web site (for staff communication, but also is viewed by the public)
- Barton catalog
- Vera
- SFX
- Illiad web pages
- any new system we implement that has an interface for use by our public users that can be modified

The group works in an advisory role with the DSpace Product Manager on interface design issues of DSpace at MIT.

The group also looks for opportunities to make our information accessible via web services for use in other interfaces at MIT (such as RSS feeds, xml web services, etc.) This means that the writing style of our content needs to be considered for contexts other than the web site that it originally appeared in. This group will be positioned to consider how our content might best be presented for those various contexts.

Chaired by the Web Manager/Usability Specialist, the group is responsible for initiating and coordinating user interface design of our web-based services. Its members may lead subgroups, act in a liaison role, or coordinate discussions among groups and individuals responsible for various systems we implement for our public.

The User Interface Group will replace the Web Advisory Group beginning in July 2006.
