Chris Smith: With Passover beginning Monday night, April 2nd, it is possible that many students will go home March 30 and not return until April 3. We have most library orientation sessions scheduled for the weekend and Monday. Should we rethink this and redistribute a few during the latter part of the week? It is quite possible that a number of team leaders could be away from campus and miss all scheduled sessions.

Main Page

The University of Connecticut Libraries' Staff Wiki is a project to create a complete, up-to-date and reliable source for various ITS Documents. Check out the links below to see how you can edit any page right now. There are currently 1,153 documents in the database.

Welcome to the University of Connecticut Libraries' Staff Wiki

What is a Wiki?

A Wiki enables documents to be authored collectively using a web browser.

This Wiki was created to help maintain the ITS area's large amount of documentation. The Wiki makes all of our documentation searchable, and allows easy access for anyone in the library to edit the information when necessary.

A few tips to get you started:

- » Please register first if you haven't already. It's quick and easy.
- » Most information in a Wiki is found via the search. For example, try to search for the word, 'password' (without quotes).
- » Once you've found a document, if you see that it is missing information or has an error, you can edit it (as long as your logged in). Keep in mind that the Wiki doesn't have to use HTML. You can type things free form, or use the Guide to Markup Text to format.

Creating a new document is easy. Just type this address in your browser:

<http://wiki.lib.uconn.edu/wiki/>

and then add the title of your document at the end of the link. Please consult Page Naming Conventions before choosing a name for your article. So if I wanted to create a new document that contained ITS Staff Phone Numbers, I might type in this URL:

http://wiki.lib.uconn.edu/wiki/ITSKB:\_Staff\_Phone\_Numbers

When you visit the new page you created, you'll need to login and edit it, and then save it for the URL to be created.

You'll find that ITS's documents all start with ITSKB. This allows anyone to view an index of all ITS documents by searching for 'ITSKB' (without the quotes).

A good way to experiment with editing is to visit the Official Sandbox.

The McGill Library Global Health Resource Guide [edit]

The McGill Global Health Resource Guide was created as a wiki to promote collaboration between all McGill people working in the field of global health. All McGill faculty, clinicians, researchers and students are encouraged to use and add to these resources.

We hope this resource guide will attract a global audience, and promote collaboration between professionals within, and beyond, the McGill Community.

If you would like to contribute to this resource, but are not a member of the McGill community, we would like to hear from you.

For more information, comments, or suggestions for content, please contact Deborah Meert at the McGill Macdonald Campus Library (deborah.meert@mcgill.ca)

Sign up for the McGill Library Global Health Workshop [edit]

The theme this year, "Checking in: Health for All or Health for Some?", promises to provide an opportunity to reflect the thirty years that have passed since the World Health Organization endorsed the vision of Alma Ata, "Health for All", and to collectively question whether and how Health for All remains our vision today. The deadline for the Call for Abstracts is June 15 and we encourage all those who would like to present a paper, poster, workshop or symposia to submit their abstract as soon as possible. Abstracts can be submitted in English, French or Spanish. Against the Odds: Making a Difference in Global Health ↗ An exhibition opening at the US National Library of Medicine, Bethesda, MD, April 17, 2008

Process

The Focusing on Undergraduates Self-Study Team:

- Discussed and organized a work plan addressing the questions asked above
- Solicited input from staff, faculty, students, and appropriate community members regarding these questions
- Drafted an initial five/seven page report addressing these questions
- Will provide a variety of opportunities for comment, discussion and input from staff, faculty, and students regarding initial draft
- Will draft an interim five/seven page report to include comments made on the initial report.
- Will provide a variety of opportunities for comment, discussion and input from staff, faculty, and students regarding interim draft
- Will draft a final report

Timeline

The Initial draft report is due to be circulated for comment beginning February 16, 2007.

Vision

The University Libraries are a strategic asset of the University, providing intellectual leadership and extraordinary information experiences toward the advancement of knowledge.

Mission

The University Libraries inspire learning and discovery through information resources, collaboration, and expertise.

Vision and Mission as stated in the Libraries' Planning Framework document prepared as part of the University's strategic planning process and submitted to the Provost on December 1, 2004.

Reviewed and affirmed by Libraries Leadership Council September 14, 2006.

Our Planning & Budget page has more details about our annual planning.

How we operate

The University Librarian's Cabinet (Cabinet) and Libraries Leadership Council (LLC) work with the University Librarian to set priorities, analyze systems-wide issues, and review policies. Other important committees exist around the Libraries, including those related to our governance and oversight.

Our Councils include those for divisions and program areas of the Libraries:

- Access Services Council
- Information Technology Council
- Collections Council
- Undergraduate Initiatives Council

Staff input is crucial to this site's evolution. Send comments to Erin at georg038@umn.edu or leave them on our Comments page.

Welcome to RefWorks - Syracuse University

This wiki is a training and knowledge management tool created by Science and Technology Librarians at Syracuse University Library to promote the use of RefWorks among the Syracuse University (SU) community.

Why should I be interested in RefWorks?

RefWorks is a service that allows you to save and store citations, and generate bibliographies in different styles (e.g., APA, MLA, Chicago). Also when using Write-N-Cite utility program you may add references to a paper and format the reference list. References may be easily imported from many online databases, the SUMMIT catalog, the Internet and other bibliographic management tools, or you can manually enter the information into RefWorks.

Can I use RefWorks at home?

RefWorks is accessible from off-campus to members of the SU community. More information involving off-campus access and SU's policy on access to licensed web resources is available.

Do you offer training on using RefWorks?

Instructional Training sessions will be available during the Fall and Spring semesters. They will be located at Bird Library in the lower level, room 046. Registration is not required and all SU and SUNY ESF students, faculty and staff are welcome to take part. You may also request a training session for a group of students or class through the Instructional Services page. During the summer, take advantage of the free webinars.

Want to join our wiki?

You are invited to join this site and be part of the growing community of RefWorks users who share ideas as well as problems or solutions that they have encountered while navigating or using the software.

For optimal viewing, we recommend using the Mozilla Firefox browser.
