Spotlight on TED/TEDx Talks by UCI Faculty
UCI Open – formerly UCI OpenCourseWare – strives to bring UC Irvine to the world by making course materials, lectures, conferences, and other academic content available for free online. We are now pleased to expand this mission with new collections, such as the TED/TEDx talks given by UCI faculty members and researchers in one convenient location on our website.

Why It's Important: Receiving an invitation to give a TED talk is reserved for read more

Other Free and Public Resources at UCI

UCI offers nearly 50 massive open, online courses at Coursera in a variety of formats: on-demand (anytime) or cohort-based. UCI was an early adopter of MOOCs and a number of these offerings are based on open educational resources also available on this site.

ZotTalks

In the first of a series of ZotTalks, we feature a short video by Prof. Charis Kubrin and Ph.D. candidate Adam Danbar’s discussion of the use of rap lyrics as evidence in criminal trials. ZotTalks are educational talks focused on securing crowd-funding for low-cost, high impact research and publication projects. Future subjects will display the breadth of research and curricular interests at UCI.

Flipping the Classroom with Open Educational Resources (OERs)

This cohort integrates open educational resources (such as MOOCs, online simulations, and other open/free course content, or materials freshly created and openly licensed as an OER) for use in current on-campus courses as a tool to help rethink or flip the classroom experience.

Cohort Facilitators

Janet Russell, Yong Lee, Beth Marhanka

Cohort Members

Anne Rosenwald, Biology | Spring 2014
"Using Drone Resources to Enhance Learning in Biochemistry"

Jan Blancato, Oncology | Spring 2014
"Student Analysis of Biotechnology Videos"

Jennifer Swift, Chemistry | Spring 2014
"Using Drone Modules in Molecular Gastronomy"

Lamar Raines, McDonough School of Business | Spring 2014
"Encouraging Critical Listening and Thinking in New Graduate Students"

Monica Arruda de Almeida, Center for Latin American Studies | Spring 2014
"Illicit Global Economy"

Rebecca Flynn, McCourt School of Public Policy | Spring 2014
"Intelligence & Public Policy"

Sheereen Joshi, Global Human Development | Spring 2014

Getting Started and Copyright for OER

OER Libguides provide a platform for curated collections of OER and other educational materials that are free to UH students. Any UH faculty who would like to use this platform to collect OER for a class is welcome. Just email oer@hawaii.edu for an account.

OER Libguides (in the search box enter OER)

Open Courses provide a structure (syllabus), a timeline, and lecture content. Often they require the students to purchase the accompanying texts.

Open Courses

Sources for textbooks were selected with Creative Commons CC By licensing, allowing you to download, reuse, revise, and redistribute the content.

Sources for Textbooks

Learning Objects sources include wikis, lesson plans, short videos, software, and other tools. Each source offers different search capabilities and conditions of use vary.

Learning Object Sources

Open Access journals enable your students to access peer reviewed literature without licensing barriers.

Open Access to Journal Article Sources

Museums and libraries provide digitized primary sources and historical context to your OER.

Digital Museum and Library Sources

Open access video sources provide university content and learning support for your students.

Textbook Affordability at UMD

Open Educational Resources

Overview of Issues
The University of Maryland estimates students spend an average of $1,130 on books and supplies per year. Textbook prices have risen a whopping 186% since 1998, and these increasing prices have affected our student’s ability to learn. Forty-eight percent of students reported that textbook prices affected which/how many classes they took, and 65% of students said they’ve skipped a book. Of those students, 84% said they were concerned it would hurt their grades. The Student Government Association is working to ease the burden on students with textbook affordability initiatives.

Selecting Textbooks/Costs
Selecting textbooks and other resources for classes is a key responsibility of faculty, and picking the ones that match the instructor’s goals and help students learn is a challenging task. But price is rarely considered in this decision making process. The goal of this site is to help students and faculty alike understand the importance of and process for considering price as one factor in selecting textbooks. Reducing price, sometimes all the way to $0, can improve quality, equity and student learning, as supported by the research of Robinson, Fischer, Wiley, and Hilton (2014). So read on, and learn how to make this happen!

MOST Initiative
During the fall semester of 2013, the University System of Maryland Student Council (USMSC) piloted a program, the Maryland Open Source Textbook Initiative (MOST), to allow interested faculty members in high-enrollment, entry-level classes to use open-source textbooks. The program, published under a publicly accessible copyright license, allows professors to customize textbook material from a pool of online resources, videos and graphics. Professors who taught large introductory courses at this university and other university system institutions learned about the features of open-source textbooks in guided workshops. In the spring of 2014, the council analyzed the effectiveness of the program by examining student satisfaction, academic achievement and faculty willingness to use the resources. MOST was established to address the root of the textbook affordability problems, and explore affordable options. Members of the University System of Maryland and the USMSC are still evaluating the program, and exploring how to improve it for the upcoming years.

The challenge? Linking affordability, access and excellence in teaching and learning at Ohio State.

Projects funded through the Affordable Learning Exchange will meet this challenge by replacing textbooks and other course materials with alternative, homegrown resources; by sharing publications made available through University Libraries; and by adopting and adapting existing Open Educational Resources (OER) from around the world. Learn more about OER from Creative Commons.

President Drake identified access, affordability and excellence as key elements of his 2020 Vision.

Education transforms lives, but only if we can deliver on our promise of access to an excellent and affordable education.

OER Collections

Open Education Resources (OERs) are teaching, learning, and research resources that reside in the public domain or have been released under an intellectual property license that permits their free use or re-purposing by others. We have many digital collections that are developed here at the University of Toronto.
