Open Access Research and Scholarship (OARS) Fund

Eligibility

Please read the following information and click on the link at the bottom to apply for OARS funding.

- Applicant must be a CSU tenured/tenure track faculty member or a full-time research scientist.
- Applicant must be listed as an author, and the article must indicate CSU affiliation.
- This round of funding is targeted at authors who have not received OARS funding in the past. Authors who received OARS funding in 2014 or 2015 are not eligible to receive funding in this cycle.
- Applicant intends to publish article in a qualifying open access journal.
- CSU Libraries support for the publication must be acknowledged in the article whenever possible.
- Authors must apply for reimbursement via the Open Access Research & Scholarship (OARS) form.
- Application for funding can be made at any time, although reimbursement cannot be processed until an article is accepted for publication and the author has been invoiced.
- All reimbursement is on a first come, first served basis until the funding is exhausted. CSU faculty members who have not received OARS Funding in the past may receive 50% of open access processing fees up to $1,500 for one article, subject to the funding guidelines.
- Authors are encouraged to apply early to reserve funding.

Funding Guidelines and Process

- CSU faculty members who have not received OARS Funding in the past may receive: 50% of open access processing fees up to $1,500 for one article, subject to the funding guidelines. For example, if an article has an open access fee of $1,500, an author would receive $750 towards the open access publication charges. If an article has an open access fee of $5,000, an author would receive $2,500.
- This round of funding is targeted at authors who have not received OARS funding in the past. Authors who received OARS funding in 2014 or 2015 are not eligible to receive funding in this cycle.
- Applications will be accepted for forthcoming articles, and authors may also apply for reimbursement for articles published after October 1, 2015. Applications will be accepted until the allocated OARS funds are committed.
- Journals must be fully open access and should be listed in the DOAJ Directory of Open Access Journals. Titles should NOT be listed in Beall’s List of Predatory Open Access Publishers. In cases where a journal does not meet these criteria, authors will be asked to briefly explain why the journal is an appropriate venue, given one’s discipline.
Articles published in commercial journals will not be eligible for funding, even if the journal has an option to make individual articles openly available. Articles from commercial journals that will be made open access 6-12 months after the initial publication date to fulfill federal mandates will not be considered for funding.

Reimbursement will not cover the cost of reprints, color illustrations, non-OA page charges, etc.

Articles that are supported by a gift or grant from a foundation, institution or agency that allows granted funds to be used for article processing fees are not eligible for reimbursement.

Applications will be reviewed by CSU Libraries and a decision for funding support will be communicated to the author within 5 working days of submission.

Reimbursement will be made once the article has been accepted for publication and the author has provided a copy of the publisher’s invoice to the Libraries. Reimbursement could take up to 3 weeks after invoice submission.

The author must deposit the article into CSU’s digital repository within 6 months of publication. Authors should review journal criteria to ensure they are complying with copyright.

Authors may apply to reserve funds before an article is submitted to an OA journal to ensure that money is available when the article is accepted. Reserved funds will be held for 6 months, at which time unused money will be returned to the pool. If an article has been accepted, the acceptance letter may be used to extend the 6-month reservation period.

Funding applications may be submitted at any time when the OARS Fund is open, although reimbursement cannot be processed until an article is accepted and the author has been invoiced. To ensure that funds are available to subsidize an article, authors are encouraged to apply for OARS funds when they submit an article that will incur open access fees.

- The funds I am requesting will be used for publication fees (including page charges) and submission fees.

- In my estimation, the fees charged by the publisher are reasonable. They are based on a standard fee schedule (please provide URL).

Open access subvention fund request form

All faculty, staff, graduate, and undergraduate students are eligible.

Funds are available to underwrite article processing charges (APC) for scholarly peer-reviewed articles accepted for publication in an open access or hybrid OA journal.

Support is limited to $1500.00 per article and $600.00 per author per year. For papers with multiple Virginia Tech co-authors, the program would still subsidize the same total amount of up to $1,500.00 per article but it would be prorated among each of the authors for the purpose of capping assistive amounts towards the annual limit for individuals, for example, 3 Virginia Tech authors counted at $500 each.

Authors must have no other sources of funding available. Funding is not available for papers resulting from research sponsored by agencies that allow allocations for OA fees, etc. NIH.

A journal's publisher must be a member of the Open Access Scholarly Publishers Association (OASPA) or comply with OASPA's Code of Conduct.

OA and hybrid journals must be registered in an open access directory such as the Directory of Open Access Journals.

For OA journals, the publishers must have reduced institutional (i.e. library) subscription prices, or plan to reduce prices the next year, based on the number of open access publications in the journal.

Funding is limited and will be distributed to authors upon approval and in the order in which they were received.

The library makes every attempt to process requests within 10 business days.

Funded article invoices must be sent directly to the Libraries' head of acquisitions within 30 days of OASFP notification. Otherwise, the funds will be returned to the OASFP and authors must reapply.

All fields are required except "Other authors and their affiliations".
